Sarah Allen Rowe

Sarah Eunice Allen was born on a small farm, September 20, 1846 to Mary Jane Beggs (daughter of Archibold and Marie Brogton Beggs) and Miles Allen (son of Benjamin and Susannah Russell Allen). She would have grown up in a log cabin as that is all there was in Fairfield Township at that time. Her father would have cleared off the trees to build a cabin. Her mom would have had a fireplace with a wide hearth made of stone or brick to do her cooking. All fruit would have been wild such as wild plums, grapes, crabapples, and berries. They would have eaten it fresh or dried it. Game in the dense forests would have been plentiful along with fish in the many lakes in the area. Children, at a very young age helped their parents. They had time for games too but were very much needed to help out to survive.

Sarah lost her father when only 3 years old. At this time she had three older sisters Avella (SP?). Emily Melissa, Amanda and one older brother, Thavilaho (Thaviland?). Her mother was pregnant with her younger brother David Miles Allen when her father died in 1849. Her older brother then died on August 13, 1851 when he was eight and she was five. Her mother was a widow for almost 3 years before marrying Adam Shatto June 22, 1852. Adam and Mary Jane gave Sarah more brothers and sisters: Warren born 1853, William born 1855, Jesse born 1857, Calvin A. born 1859, Lana born 1862, and Anna born 1865. Emily Melissa, another older sister then died at 13 shortly after Sarah became 13. I imagine she was very close to this sister since there was less than a year apart in their ages. Her sister Emily Melissa, brother Thavilaho (Thaviland?), and father Miles are buried in a row at Fairfield Cemetery.

In the 1860 DeKalb Co., Fairfield Township census it shows that Sarah is 13 and living at home with her older sister Amanda and her younger Shatto brothers, Warren, William, Jesse and Calvin. Her brother David Miles is living with a neighbor George Putt where the Putt School used to be. This was very common in the time period. Very young (by our standards) children at 9 or 10 would live with friends and neighbors to work or apprentice. David later became a teacher serving at the Putt School and then at Spencerville School. He married, had children, and died at 34. (See attached pages for David) I don't know what happened to Amanda, Avella, or Warren. William H. became a schoolteacher and married Hattie. They are buried in Fairfield cemetery close to their father and mother. Calvin married and had at least four children, among them John who married Mina Hanes, daughter of Jacob and Viola (Rowe) Hanes, a descendant of George Rau/Row Sr.

Sarah married Zacharia Rowe October 24, 1869 when Sarah was 24. Zachariah lived locally. His uncle George W. Rowe, lived next door to Sarah where the curve is on CR15 going toward CR8. They had a total of eleven children according to a census asking that particular question.

The ten other children were David Miles born 1870, Nora born 1873, William born 1874, Emma born 1877, Albert born 1880, Elza born 1882, Oliver born 1886, Blanche and Edgar, twins born 1889, and Mabel Donnie born 1893.

According to the recollection of his mother, Mabel Rowe Sell, Paul Sell says that Zachariah lived on a large truck farm in Indiana. For those of you that do not know what that means, that is a farm that is devoted to the growing of vegetables for market. Nov 23, 1897, her husband Zacharia died. She bought a cemetery plot from a friend and had Zachariah buried at Fairfield Cemetery with the services at Fairfield English Lutheran Church. According to Paul Sell's story about his mother, his mother had said that her mom, Sarah did not have much money and only gave a token payment for the gravesites. In Zachariah's obituary it agains mentions that they had eleven children and that he was industrious, energetic, a good citizen, an affectionate husband and a kind and loving father. This obituary was in the Auburn Courier.

Sarah had her share of troubles. Beside having a hard time with money, trying to keep the family together with the help of her older children, other catastrophes starting happening. Her son David Miles was working as a timber cutter, living in Auburn in 1900 and enjoyed going to bars with friends. Playing around at the bar things got out of hand. Tempers flared and a tragedy almost happened. David got shot trying to make peace after an argument broke out. Maybe he felt responsible because he was part of the reason for the argument. Outside, after a sleigh ride they were shoving each other around. This time he shoved a friend into one of the guys they had gone on a sleigh ride with shortly before. This man was very drunk and was trying to doze off and got shoved off his chair due to David Rowe's clowning around. He was very annoyed and started yelling and the bartender threw him out. He came back in and David put him back outside. He was still yelling and screaming saying he was going to hurt someone since they threw him out of the bar and bragged that he had knifed someone in Fort Wayne and they would not get away with treating him like that. David tried to stop the guy that got thrown out of the bar from coming back in and making trouble with the bartender and got shot for his efforts. David came back in and called for a beer saying, "Boys, drink with me, it may be the last time." He tasted a little and they saw he was hurt and helped him away. The headlines in the paper the next day screamed, "IT MAY PROVE A MURDER. David Rowe is a Victim of the Rage of George Green, a Negro. - Rowe May Not Recover." He survived and testified against the Mr. Green that shot him. Mr. Green went to the penitentiary for two to fourteen years for assault and battery with intent to kill. According to the paper, people were divided about this issue. Some said that the person should go away for attempted murder and some said, they shouldn't have been tormenting him in the first place. Sarah went to Auburn to take care of him and he improved rapidly. This happened about March 1900.

By census time, David was living back at home. One reason may have been, that Sarah did lose a son this time in May of 1900. Albert (Burt), 20, was working on a farm for a Bert Campbell of Waterloo. On Friday he was paid shortly before he got on the train. He was sober at the time. I guess there was speculation after what happened to David. He road the train to Sedan, where his family was living, planning to spend Sunday with them. He jumped or fell off the train near to the stop. Speculation was that he maybe thought they weren't going to stop or maybe he missed his stop and decided to jump. He lost his footing and got hit by the train. He was found to be badly bruised and his skull crushed. He was left at Sedan and lingered in a semi-conscious condition until three o'clock on Sunday. Can you imagine seeing your son lingering for hours and watching him suffer and cry out, not being able to help him? Knowing he was coming home to be with you.

In November 1895, the first of her children, Nora, had gotten married to Laurel Spindler and was living away from home. Her oldest son David Miles, then got married in 1901 to a widow with two children. Another son, Elza was married in 1902. William then got married in 1905. Her children were starting to get married and Sarah was finally enjoying grandchildren. She was probably sad that her husband had only gotten to see one of her precious grandchildren before he died. Her daughter Emma had a child in 1901 and lived at home since she was a single parent. Other grandchildren included David's two stepchildren, Delia and Guy, David's children Thelmer, Allen, Harold, and Wilbur; Nora's child Estella Spindler, and Elza's 3 children, Donna, Arthur, and Cecil. I can imagine it got quite lively at her house when the grandchildren were visiting.

Peace was not to last long. Quite a few people in that time period were contracting typhoid. The local health department was not quite sure what was causing it. The Rowe's had escaped the disease until Sarah's son, William, came down sick with the symptoms. Against all warnings by doctors and officials, Sarah, couldn't stand it any longer and taking all precautions went to care for her son. Lives of the other members of Bill's family were spared because of her actions. But Bill died in October. His wife of less than a year went home to her mother in Ashley. Sarah went home and everything was back to normal until the incubation period of the disease had passed and she came down with typhoid. She was sick for nine weeks, when she died. Once, in the paper, it said they thought she was better and was going to live. Her funeral was a quiet one as there were others in the family critically ill at the time, two of them unconscious and did not know their mother was dead. The county health officer visited them and after putting them under quarantine he had men take up the carpets and had the walls papered. New carpets were bought and all done that could be done to stamp out the disease. Mrs. Dice of Auburn was nursing them and at the time of the article they said the family was better. They were living at the old Hesse Cassell School, one mile north of Sedan (it is one mile north of US6 now) on CR19. Ollie was the next to die at 20 on January 31, 1907. The remaining family that was sick was moved to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett for treatment. Then Blanche, twin of Edgar, died February 6, 1907, age 17. She was buried with the rest of her family at Fairfield Cemetery. Otto, Emma's five year old son then died at the hospital. Edgar, Emma, Emma, and Elza all had it and were admitted to the hospital eventually but the rest of Sarah's children survived.

Typhoid is an infection caused by Salmonella typhi. The bacterium is usually ingested in contaminated water or food contaminated with human feces. Unlike other species of Salmonella, it is only found in humans. Once it is in the intestine it can work its way into the blood stream and infect the liver, spleen, and lymph nodes. The first and most common symptom of typhoid is fever. During the first week of the disease a person with typhoid may also have a loss of appetite, weakness, general aches and pains, lack of energy, dull headache, and tiredness. The fever continues to go higher and higher. If a person is not treated or cannot eliminate the infection on their own they go into delirium and can die. Proper disposal of human waste and the requirement of food handlers to wash their hands after going to the bathroom has lowered the incidence of infection to less than one case of typhoid fever to 100,000 people in the U.S. I added this information because I wasn't sure what typhoid was and what caused it. I can imagine it was quite easy to spread it with the this time of bedpans and outside toilets or chamberpots.

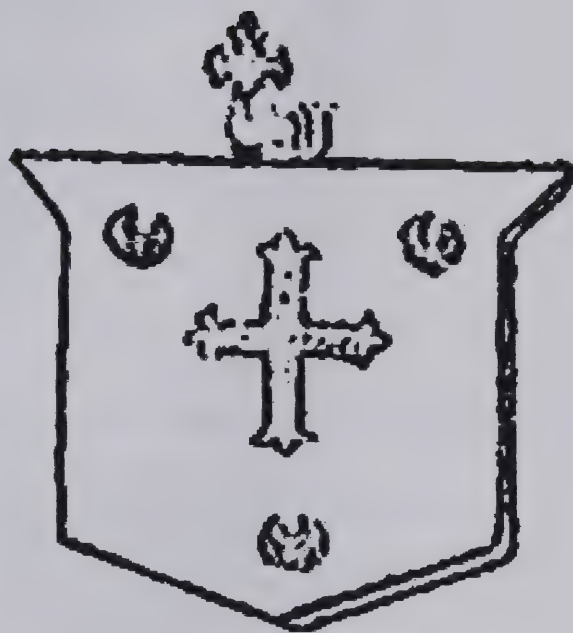

Even if a person was very careful about washing their hands, they probably did not think about washing the pump handles to draw the water. Plus the only hot water would have been heated on the stove. Poor Sarah and her family.

An interesting story that Amanda, my daughter, wanted put in this book about typhoid follows. I think the reason she wanted it put in because I told her that on the internet, I read where a Doctor was saying that dirt and filth caused typhoid. I believe this for modern times but I don't believe it for previous generations. They, I am sure washed their hands, and did the best they could but with no hot water (at least not readily accessible) they did the best they could. Well here is the story. This is an account of Alexander the Great. "On the eighteenth of the month he slept in the bathing room on account of his fever. The next day he bathed and removed into his chamber and spent his time playing at dice....and ate freely, and had the fever on him through the night. On the twentieth, ...he bathed....he lay in the bath house listening to the narrative of Nearchus's voyage." The twenty-first, his fever was very violent and had himself removed and had his bed moved to where he was able to talk to his leaders about replacing vacant places in his army. On the twenty-fourth, he was much worse. On the twenty fifth he was removed to his palace on the other side of the river where he slept a little but his fever did not lessen. When the generals came in, he was speechless and continued so the following day. The Macedonians, supposing he was dead, came with great clamors to the gate and they were forced to admit them to show them that he wasn't dead. On the twenty-eighth he died. Some people believe that it was typhoid fever that caused his death. Look how much he bathed and he still got typhoid.

Even though Sarah's life and those of some of her children were cut short tragically, her legacy lives on. She and Zachariah have hundreds of descendants. She would have been proud of their accomplishments and would have been fascinated by the modern world and the opportunities that her loved ones have. Let us remember our pioneer men and women that gave us so much. They passed on to us not only their genes but their codes of ethics, sense of accomplishments, pride and strength.

Additional Information about
David and William Beggs
Brothers of Archibald, Sarah Allen Rowe's great uncles

David Beggs, died in 1867; married Rachel White.

Notes for David Beggs:

David came to America first and settled in Springfield Township near where Springfield Church is, in Pennsylvania. He worked at different occupations and made enough money to send back to Ireland for two of his brother, William and probably James.

William Beggs, born 1787; died 1874; married Unknown Wilson.

Notes for William Beggs:

He had learned the weaving trade and was a man of medium height and weight., but had a lot of courage and was strong. This can be seen by the following story:

The only source of fuel at that time and place was peat, which was cut by sharp spades and ranked up to dry. William was cutting peat and the children were ranking it up to dry. When William was away, a neighbor and bully, drove over the ranks with his cart. The children cried and told their father. He brought the neighbor to task about it. The second time the neighbor brought his cart over the ranks of peat, this time was more than William could stand. He ordered the bully from the cart, and asked him what rules he wanted to fight by. It was decided to fight by Queensbury rules (open hands and no blows below the waist). They removed their coats and went at it. The fight lasted three hours and there were about 2000 people watching them when they finished. The bully said he had enough.

David sent for William. William's wife was bedfast for three years. The sturdy spirit of the early settlers is shown in her desire to start in American even though her health was such that she did not know whether she would live to get there. She probably thought that if she reached the land of promises her health would be better. They left Belfast on a small sailing ship. About a week out from land, they encountered a storm that caused many to fall to their knees in prayer, but the storm passed without mishap. The condition of Mrs. Beggs grew serious and in mid ocean, surrounded by family and a few friends, she passed away. The body was prepared for burial, sewed up in canvas, weighted, and buried at sea. After six weeks of good and bad weather they landed at New York. After passing quarantine and immigration officials, they started on the long trek to Pennsylvania by boat and stagecoach. They finally arrived at brother David's in Springfield Twp, Mercer County. This was the summer of 1847. William Jr., his son was 19 when he arrived in America.

William Sr. had learned the weaver trade and had practiced it in Scotland near the birthplace of Robert Burns. After being married and the family partially reared, he took up a tenant lease in Tyrone County, Ireland and in connection with his trade, he worked the five-acre farm. When they decided to come to America, in order to pay passageway, they sold this tenant lease for eleven pounds per acre. Misled by stories that had filtered through from America as to the lack of necessities and luxuries of life, they included in their baggage a chest of salt, feather tick, iron pots and skillets, and tools, which if they only had known, could have been purchased much cheaper in America. The family stayed with a friend in New York while William worked as a bung maker. When they reached brother David's, they were given cordial welcome and the family renewed their relationship of past years. After searching for a place to locate, they finally decided to settle in Sandy Lake Township, Mercer County near the Venango County line. This location was entirely a forest. Forty acres was bought for three hundred and fifty dollars. They cleared a place to build a log house. At this time, the region was chiefly forest with wild game in abundance; such as deer, bear, wild cat, wild turkeys, and other small game. This land was from original grants made to soldiers and officers in the Revolutionary War. William constructed a loom and plied his trade as a weaver. He was a devout man, respected and honored by all that knew him. Often times he officiated at funerals when a minister could not be secured. When advancing years brought on complications of diseases, he would not have a doctor, for he often said that if a person wasn't sick and he had a doctor, he soon would be. And so passed away this man of Puritan ideals. Though he never became a naturalized citizen, he was true and loyal to his adopted country.

This information was given out in a packet at a July 4, 1972 Beggs Reunion. The packet was prepared by Homer W. Beggs. Much of the information was prepared by William H. Beggs of Sandy Lake, PA. This was sent to me by Daniel Kramer on May 4, 1999 in answer to a query on the internet about Mary Jane Beggs. (Sarah Allen's mother) first church, a log structure; a United Brethren church was organized in 1842, and the Newville Christian Church in the fall of 1851. The first school in the township, and also, it is said, the first in the county, was taught in 1837 by Eunice Strong. The schoolhouse was a frame building standing on section 7. Newville Township is crossed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, constructed in 1875, but there is no station within the township. The assessment of Newville Township for the year 1918 showed the following valuations: lands, lots and improvements, $309,010; personal and corporation property, $192,660; total net value of taxables, $479,600.

FAIRFIELD TOWNSHIP

Fairfield Township lies in the northwest corner of DeKalb County, and contains neither railroad nor town. Its surface is somewhat broken and there are more hills than in most of the other townships. This irregularity, diversified by bluffs, ravines, winding streams, and limpid lakes, gives it an element of the picturesque, attractive in itself, in addition to which it possesses a good, and in many places, a rich soil. Its remoteness of situation, however, caused it to be one of the last of the early-formed townships to become settled. Another retarding element was the fact that much of the land at an early date was bought by speculators, who held it for a rise in value without making permanent settlement or improvements. In these transactions Wesley Park, of Auburn, acted as agent. But in time conditions changed, and the land came into the hands of genuine settlers who laid the foundations of the township's present agricultural wealth.

Fairfield Township was organized in accordance with a petition received by the board of commissioners, March 7, 1844, and which was signed by Rufus R. Lounsberry, George W. Story, A. Ball, Oran B. Story, Miles Allen, C. Allen, George Powell, Benjamin Hunt and Nathan W. Powell, all of whom were voters in the township. The first election was ordered to be held in April, the same year, at the house of Mr. Lounsberry, to choose a justice of the peace. The Story family, five in number, were the first immigrants of Fairfield and located along the northern border of the township. Willard Childs, who had walked from his home in Onondaga County, New York, to Fort Wayne, and thence to Kendallville, entered Fairfield Township, DeKalb County, accompanied by a guide, on March 4, 1837. He selected and paid for 120 acres on section 27. He then set out again to Fort Wayne, where he stopped long enough to earn money to take him home. He returned in October, 1844, to view his land and pay taxes, and in 1846 came again and made his home temporarily with Benjamin Chaffee who sold his place to Mr. Childs, and made another settlement in the north part of the township. At a later period he became postmaster at Corunna. A few other families or individuals had in the meanwhile entered the township and built log cabins. In the southeast was David McNabb and family; farther east was Wilbur Powell, and just to the north the clearing and cabin of George Powell, the first justice of the peace, besides one or two others. William and Isaac D. Rager, Hiram Thomas, Miles Allen, John Shook, Henry Hartman and the Wilsey family also came in, making about fourteen families in the township, but at this time not more than eighty acres had been cleared.

Until 1850 there were few new arrivals. Then the speculators began to sell their land, and it was soon taken up and occupied by a flood of immigrants. The first frame building was a barn, 24 by 30 feet in size, which was put up in the spring of 1847. The bents were put on by noon of the day the work was started by thirty men and three boys, to whom —Mrs. Rowe of near Sedan came down Saturday and is at the bedside of her son, David Rowe, who was shot by George Green Friday evening.

—David Rowe continues to improve and there is now no reason to doubt that he will recover. This will be good news, not only to his friends, but to the man who came so near cutting short Rowe's earthly existence.

—People are discussing that shooting affray from both sides, and many are very bitter against the men with Green who tormented him till he got mad and used his revolver.

—David Rowe was able to be out on the street a short time today and seems to be about as good a man physically as before he became a target for George Green's bullet.

David Miles Rowe

David worked as a timber cutter for the Greenler Company in 1900. He was shot in a bar February 1900 and they thought he was going to die. Granddad Rowe enjoyed drinking with his friends and sometimes it got him in trouble like the incident above and when he would get a little too generous and buy everyone drinks and then come home with very little for his family. He was a very kind and generous man and an extremely hard worker. He worked a farm and also raised pigs. He lived on the Spindler farm on County Road 14, Fairfield Township where all his children were born. He then bought a farm near Salem Center, Steuben County, Indiana. I know they lost most of their things in a huge house fire. They rebuilt and Guy Miller bought the farm and lived there until he died. Rod Mills recalls, "Grandpa Rowe sat by an old potbellied stove in a rocker. I used to tease him and he would try to catch me with the hook on his cane. I remember Grandpa had a team of horses that he was quite proud of. The horses seemed huge to a six year old." I never knew my grandparents as they both died before I was born. I almost got to see Jennora, as mom was pregnant with me then.

This is my very favorite picture of David and Jennora Rowe.

David is holding Allen and Jennora is holding Harold.

Delia and Guy Miller are standing in the back.

Thelmer Rowe is standing in front.

IT MAY PROVE A MURDER.

David Rowe is a Victim of the Rage of George Green, a Negro.—Rowe May Not Recover.

Many of our citizens Friday afternoon saw a party of six men, among them George Green, the colored man who has been working for Harry Draggo, riding about town on a sled, and noticed that they were having "a high old time." After finishing the ride the men stopped at Fredericks' saloon on South Main street, where they had several rounds of drinks. About 5:30 Green became angered after a short altercation with some of the men present, which seems to have started in a joking way. The bartender, John Maxwell, separated the men, and Mr. Fredericks came in as the negro was loudly daring the rest to fight him, and after trying to quiet him, led him to the back door and put him out. Green went around to the front door and attempted to come in, when one of the men closed the door in his face. Soon after a shot was heard and Fredericks went out and ordered Green to leave.

David Rowe, a timber cutter for the Greenler Company, also went out and advised the negro to go away and not make any further trouble. When the men were but a few feet apart the negro fired point-blank at Rowe, the ball striking him in the groin. Rowe turned and went back into the saloon where it was found that he was badly wounded. A conveyance was at once secured and the injured man taken to Dr. Nusbaum's office where an examination was made, and later on he was removed to the home of Enos Kissinger, over Kruger's grocery. He rested fairly well through the night and this morning Dr. Nusbaum probed for the ball, finding it lodged in the muscles of the back. The chances for his recovery are about even.

After the shooting Green ran to the Draggo residence, entering by the front door. Several persons saw him go into the house, and as soon as the news of the affair spread quite a crowd gathered. Mr. and Mrs. Draggo are absent on a visit in Ohio, and as it was known that several guns were kept about the house no one seemed anxious to make a search for Green, who was known to be desperate. Sheriff Hathaway and his deputies at once arranged to guard the house, and when John Wolf, Mr. Draggo's hostler, found two of the guns in the kitchen where they had been placed by Green, it was determined to risk a search of the premises. Every corner (as it was supposed) known to be desperate. Sheriff Hathaway and his deputies at once arranged to guard the house, and when John Wolf, Mr. Draggo's hostler, found two of the guns in the kitchen where they had been placed by Green, it was determined to risk a search of the premises. Every corner (as it was supposed) of the residence and out-buildings was searched but without success, though the vigilance of the officers was not relaxed. The officers in the neighboring towns were also notified by telephone to be on the lookout for Green who it was thought had managed to sneak away. About daylight this morning another search was made, and in examining the cellar one of the windows was found to be slightly open. Sheriff Hathaway peered out and saw the much wanted man curled up under the porch, where he had evidently spent the night. When he looked into the muzzle of the sheriff's big gun, Green weakened and came out of his hiding place. He was soon behind the bars where he will be held to await the action of the grand jury, which meets Monday. He has but little to say except that he was provoked to the shooting by being imposed upon by his companions.

While Rowe was at Dr. Nusbaum's office last evening, and when it was thought his wound would prove fatal, Deputy Prosecutor Pomeroy was called and took the wounded man's statement of the case, which corresponds with the facts given above. There seems to be no question that Rowe was in no way to blame, and in fact was simply doing all in his power to quiet the negro when shot.

Green came here last summer from Fort Wayne where he was well known to the police as a dangerous man. In a quarrel with another negro at the Randall hotel in that city, Green almost killed his antagonist, and at once came here. He has had trouble with other Auburn men while intoxicated but this is his first serious offense here.

The shooting and the nature of the circumstances surrounding it created great excitement and hundreds of people visited the scene of the crime and the Draggo residence during the evening. The usual talk of lynching was indulged in but there was probably no danger.

As we go to press Dr. Nusbaum informs us that Rowe's condition is rather unfavorable, and that his chances for recovery have been greatly lessened in the last few hours.

FOR SHOOTING DAVE ROWE.

George Green Now on Trial in the Circuit Court.

After some ordinary work done in court yesterday, which will be found in another column, the trial of George Green was called up. He is the colored man who shot David Rowe in another row at the South End saloon, March, 2. Some time was spent in getting a jury. I. B. Madden, W. Houlton, D. W. Weitz and J. H. Handricks were put off, and Michael Porter, John Zimmer, S. H. Hise and Wm. T. Bush put in their place.

The first witness was Chas. Hamilton. He testified that on that afternoon, several men were in Frederick's South End saloon, and toward evening concluded to take a sleigh ride up town with Barrick's team. They took in the uptown saloons and about an hour later found themselves back at the starting point. The negro, George Green, had been with them and all had drank a good deal. Green sat down in a chair, leaned up against a partition and appeared to be asleep. Several of the others were eating pickled pigs feet, and Rowe, the man who was shot later on, threw some crackers at the sleeping darkey, to torment him. "I did not see Rowe throw a bone of the pigs feet, but he may have done so. I saw only crackers thrown. Rowe pushed me over against Green, who fell off his chair. I had not agreed in this thing with Rowe." John Maxwell, the bartender, said pick him up; he's drunk." Green got up. Seemed angry. He went up to Barricks and kicked him. Barricks turned and pushed him, or lunged at him, sending him to the floor. He fell against me, but I did not push him.

Fredericks had been to supper. He came in and said the noise must be stopped. He could hear it across the street at his house. He told Green he must keep still or go out. Green said I would like to see any man put me out. Frederick caught him by the collar, took him to the door, threw him out, kicking him as he went. This was at the west, or rear door. Green soon after appeared at the front door and tried to come in. Frederick told him to stay out. Green insisted. Frederick said if I have to put out again, I may hurt you. Green had a revolver. Rowe pushed him out of the door and Frederick and I went out. Saw Green backing away, threatening to shoot Rowe. Rowe followed a few feet away. They were about 20 feet to the north when Green fired. Witness said the thirteen glasses of beer had not made him drunk. When Green said no Auburn man could not get away with him, he told that he had slashed a man all up at Fort Wayne with a razor, and he could do up anyone here.

Isaac Barricks called. Live at north end of Auburn. Am teaming. About middle of the afternoon, was in saloon when one of the men asked me to drive up town, with a number of them. I hitched up. We went to Davis' first, then around the square, then to Ryan's then Sommers' then Fox's then Sommers' then Berg's then back to the South End, then back to Sommers' then to Lackey's where I got a box, then back to the stable, then to Fredericks' saloon. It was now about 5 p. m. Green sat in the saloon with his head down. Seemed to be asleep. I was getting a $5 piece changed by John Maxwell at the bar. Green got up and kicked me three times. I turned and lunged at him, but did not strike him; pushed him over so he fell. Did not see Ed. Metcalf or Cutter, the blacksmith, there. Had heard Mitchell tell Rowe not to throw any more crackers at Green. Hamilton and Green fell out or got out of the sleigh as we were coming from up town, and there was some snowballing and such. After I pushed Green over, Hamilton asked us to drink. We all took a drink of beer.

John Maxwell called. Am bartender for Fredericks. That day, when the men started on their sleighride up town, all took beer, except Green, who took brandy. Green treated that time. Got it on credit. After the team came back, Green was sitting in chair. Rowe flipped a bone of the pig's feet at him. Don't think it hit Green, for he did not look up. Then Rowe threw crackers. Green muttered something. I told Rowe to stop, and he said all right, I do not want to cause trouble. In a little while the boys got to pushing each other, and Rowe pushed Hamilton over Green, who fell to the floor. I told them to pick him up. He may be drunk. This seemed to anger him, and he said I am not as drunk as you think. I was changing the money for Barrick when Green got up and kicked him. Barrick pushed him over. I went around to stop the fuss. I thought Green had a gun. Rowe offered to set up the beer. All came up but Green. I said, Green if you want to drink with the rest, come up and do so and not make a fuss. Will you have beer or liquor? But he set his glass down on the bar and began to swear. Frederick came from supper and told George to keep quiet, but finally kicked him out the back door. George soon tried to come in at the front door, and called to Frederick, "You put me out of your house," Frederick said "I did, and I want you to go away." Rowe pushed Green out the door. We heard a shot. Frederick and I went out. Green was backing north with the revolver in his hand threatening to shoot. Rowe was following him. Did not see Hank Showers or Ed. Metcalf. Green said, you follow me and I'll shoot. Heard a shot. In a minute Rowe came in and called for beer saying, "Boys, drink with me, it may be the last time." They asked if he was shot. He tasted a little, and they saw he was hurt and helped him away.

Frank Frederick called. Live in south part of town and run the saloon there. Was not present when the trouble began. I saw the boys in the saloon that day, and they were there about five in the evening. I came in. Green was sitting behind the stove. I had heard loud talking as I came across the street. Green was swearing. I said keep quiet. George swore he would kill the first man who tried to put him out. Did not kick him hard. He stood at one side and cursed. He soon came to front door. I told him I would put him out roughly if he came in. Rowe went to the door. We heard the first shot. I thought it might be something falling against the door. Rowe went out and tried to quiet George, who was flourishing a revolver. Rowe said, George you would not shoot me. After the shooting, Rowe came in. I said, Rowe, George is shooting blank. Rowe said no, I am shot. I did not know George was drunk when I went to supper. He is a pretty good fellow when sober. I was behind the bar when George tried to get in the front door.

David Rowe called. My home has been in Fairfield township, but I now live in Auburn. I out logs for Barrieks. Am the man Green shot. Green was in the saloon when we were getting ready for that sleighride up town. Someone asked him to go along. He said he would, but he had no money. They said if you set 'em up now, we will take you anyway. He said he would do that if he could get the six drinks for a quarter and pay for them when he got the money. This was done, and all went up town. After our return, George was sitting down and seemed asleep. I snapped a piece of bone at him and some crackers. I pushed Hamilton against him and he fell to the floor. We were all pushing and fooling. I was going to help him up. He said he could help himself. Soon saw him kick Barriek, who was counting his money. Barriek turned and struck at him and he fell.

He was put on the stand this morning and told the story of the shooting very much as the others had, only he said when he went back into the saloon, he does not remember calling for the drinks, nor does he remember much that happened as he got sick. Remembers being taken to Nusbaum's office. Was confined to his room but five days. The wound is now healed outside, but hurts inside now and then.

Mathias Arnold testified that he was in at Potter's grocery, got some eggs and was going north saw Green in front of the saloon, and soon after heard two shots.

George Mitchell, saw Green come in through Potter's grocery and go to front saloon door and try to get in, but someone pushed him back. Then Green shot, saw the revolver. Shot up into the air. Saw Frederick come out. Green said go back or I will shoot. Frederick went back. I told Beatty to telephone for sheriff or marshal, which he did.

Clarence Cook called. My barber shop is across from saloon. Was shaving a customer when heard the trouble and went out, as did also the customer, Mr. Keckler, both of whom testified as to what they saw.

Norman Springer and John Speer, two farmers hauling in stove bolts testified to being in the saloon and seeing part of the trouble, and told about the men shoving each other over, about as others told it. After first shot I went out, and when I saw Green swinging his revolver, I went in again. Soon heard another shot. (Springer was a member of the grand jury that indicted Green.)

Dr. Nusbaum called. Was going home that evening, and near Jones store, was hailed by some men and asked to come to a sled and see a man who had been shot. He found Rowe, took him to office and gave restoratives as he was suffering from the shock and was weak. Could not examine much on that account. Next morning I examined fully. Found ball had gone straight through in the part of abdomen between stomach and bowels. It probably cut none of the bowels, as he recovered so easily. I found the bullet about two inches from the spine. He produced the ball, which counsel and jury examined.

Beatty, the clerk in Potters's store testified to seeing Green with revolver in hand. He told Green to go away but Green said he had only blank cartridges. Saw him shoot Rowe. I went and got my gun. Went into saloon. Hamilton wanted my gun to go after Green. As Rowe went into the saloon, he put his hand to his bowels, as if in pain.

Sheriff Hathaway told of finding the prisoner under the south porch, where he had got to by crawling out a small window they had failed to find the night before. He said "George come out," and he gave up his revolver and came out. It was a short thirty-two.

Here the state rested.

Afternoon, the testimony of Mrs. Annie Cline, who is one of the tenants of the house north of the saloon, was called. She saw the shooting but was evidently too frightened at the time to remember much. Her story was much like the others.

George Green, the defendant, was put on the stand. He is a rather bright and quick-witted negro, but evidently a tough one. He is 38, was born in Mason county, Ky. Worked five months for Wash Askew, driving bus a few years ago, but had been a cook on Ohio river boats, and at Cincinnati. Had cooked at the Wayne and Randall since coming to Fort Wayne. Got into a row with one of the cooks at the latter last June. The man hit him on the head with a cleaver, when Green got a razor and slashed the man. The "cobel" told Green he better leave town. He came to Auburn and began cooking for Harry Draggoo, July 1.

The evening of the trouble, he had been to Potter's grocery for some things, but did not find what he wanted. So started home. At saloon was stopped and asked to go in and drink. I refused, said I had sworn off. But finally drank with them. I took peach brandy. Then they said, "Ain't you going to set 'em up?" I said I had no money, but would do it if Maxwell would make it for a quarter. He said he would take me for that. So we drank." All got in sleigh, came to Ryan's saloon, and one of the party asked if that sleigh was not worth the beer. So Ryan set 'em up. Witness said this joke was got off at Sommers', Zirwes', Fox's and Berg's, each time that "sleigh" being a winner. Sometimes one of the party added another beer all around. Then they got a box at Laskays as they wanted to have a good time that night. I said I had had enough and did not want to go. We went back down to the south end. Hamilton fell out near south end, and caught my feet and pulled me out. At the saloon I sat down and went to sleep. Do not know that anything was thrown at me. Was knocked over on chair. Got up, Hamilton knocked me to Barricks, and Barricks knocked me to Rowe. Rowe knocked me to Hamilton. Then was caught and hustled out back and kicked out. I came around through the grocery store to the front door of saloon. Someone came out and ordered me away. I pulled out the revolver and it went off. I did not know till next morning that I had hit Rowe. I went home, went down cellar, for I was afraid of a mob. I crawled through the window out under the porch and lay there. Later, I got back into the cellar and slept on some blankets near the furnace, and at daylight got back under the porch where the sheriff found me.

Witness added that the revolver was Draggoo's and given him to use in case of burglars, and that another revolver and quite a number of rifles and shot-guns were in the house. This ended the testimony.

The attorneys made their arguments. Rhoads and Pomeroy were for the state and Moody & Rickel for the defense. In the evening Judge Bratton charged the jury and they were sent out about 8:30. At 9:30 they had a sealed verdict ready, and this morning at 8:30 was read. The verdict was from two to fourteen years in the penitentiary, charged in the indictment for assault and battery with intent to kill.

Nora Rowe

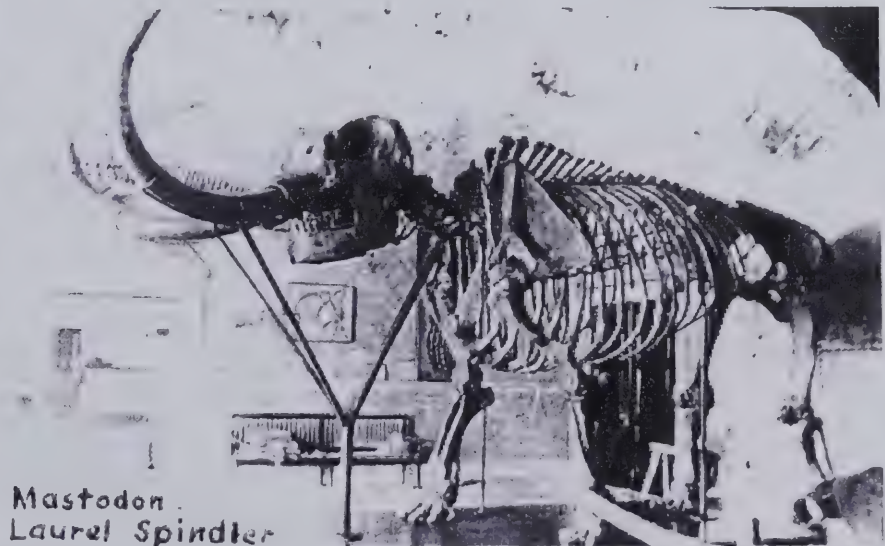

Nora was married when she was twenty two to Laurel Spindler, son of Nicholas Demes Spindler. David Rowe, her brother then married Laurel's sister Jennora. Laurel was a minister and he was the one that found the mastodon in Fairfield Twp. That was very exciting news in those days. He also traveled around for a while, displaying the bones in various cities in Ohio. They moved to Cleveland, Ohio but came back for a while when her family was sick with typhoid. She took her youngest sister Mabel and kept her for a while until money became tight. Mabel then went on and lived with some very nice people, who Paul Sell mentions, that he loved as grandparents. I remember mom (Golda Rowe) mentioning that Nora had a goiter. In today's world, she would not have that. It seems like it would have been hard to deal with this as it was so prominent. She seemed like a wonderful person and maybe it didn't bother her much at all. I met her daughter Stella and she was absolutely great. Very friendly and outgoing. She was at Aunt Delia's at the time and I remember her mentioning that she was double cousins with my mom and the Rowe boy's.

William H. Rowe

William was thirty when he died. According to Paul Sell's mother Mabel Rowe, when he got sick, Sarah couldn't stand it any longer and against all advice, went to take care of him. William was newly married. I could never find the name of his wife, but she had a sister Mable Grey of Ashley, Indiana who spent a few days with her sister. This was in the paper on May 10, 1906. Again according to Mabel Rowe, by Sarah taking care of William, she spared his family. I am not sure if he had any descendants or not. His wife went back home to her family after William passed away. His funeral was in the Fairfield English Lutheran Church and he was buried at Fairfield Cemetery, close to his parents.

Notes for WILLIAM H. ROWE:

William H. Rowe was the first to die of typhoid in his family. His mother then died, another brother, a sister, and a nephew. In the Auburn Courier, October 25, 1906 "U (they must mean W) died in Sedan last Tuesday morning with typhoid fever. The funeral services were held in the Lutheran church there at 2:00 Thursday. He is buried in Fairfield Cemetery according to his death records.

SEDAN, May 9 — Little Mary Schuster is quite sick.... Mrs. Mary Crane has been suffering severely with pain in the back of her neck... Mable Grey, of Ashley, has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Will Rowe.

Mr. Whetzel was in town last near the church..... Bill Rowe was married last week to a lady from near Ashley. The boys gave them a kind old fashioned charleart.

Sedan

SEDAN, Oct. 24 — Henry Schuster has a fever and is very sick. Henry Kruse and family and Fred Kruse were up to see him last Sunday.... Roy and Earnest Crane accompanied by Ilif Brown, of Auburn, and Vera Sinclair, of Waterloo, visited at home on Sunday.... Milton Chaney and wife visited relatives at Lisbon over Sunday.... Mr and Mrs. C. Buss were up to see Edie Buss who has been sick for the past week.... The funeral of Will Rowe was largely attended. His wife will make her home at Ashley with her mother. She has the sympathy of her friends here who realize how hard it must be to be left a widow after just eleven months of married life.... A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all who were present at the home of Mrs. Clymer DeLong Sunday, Oct. 21st, the occasion being the eighteenth anniversary of her daughter, Miss Doris DeLong. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Cook of South Milford and Mrs. Adaline Greenwood of Clay Center, Kas. T. C. Benson and wife wish to extend their thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted them in their recent illness, especially to the U. B. Showers' Corners church who turned out in a body, the men to gather in the fall crops and the women to sew at their society.... Mrs. Mary Schuster has had a relapse

Sedan

SEDAN, Oct. 9. — Eli Shull and wife and son, from west of Auburn, visited Sioe Fickes and family last Sunday. Mr. Shull and wife are intending to spend the winter in California..... Will Rowe and T. C. Benson are both improving. T. C. Benson did not have the typhoid fever, only a low persistent fever that was hard to break up.... The report in the paper last week saying that Sedan had had ten cases of typhoid fever was wrong. There has only been four cases and some of those do not claim to have had the regular typhoid fever. It was very unfortunate for our fair that such a statement was made at just

Emma Alice Rowe

Her birthday is recorded in Vol. 1, "Birth Records, Births Prior to 1882." compiled by Troas Wise, 1987. I do not have much information on Emma. She had a child and lost him to typhoid, after losing a mother, two brothers, and a sister. She got married to Calvin Husselman, a prominent Auburn citizen. Calvin was married twice before. Her stepson, Oak, became a lawyer in Auburn. I remember someone telling me a long time ago that she lived in a rest home before her death. I am not sure if this is true or not. Her son Horace was the publisher of the "Hamilton News." of Hamilton, IN. Emma had typhoid and was taken to the hospital at the Sacred Heart Hospital and she survived. She died when she was 84. She is buried in the Hamilton Cemetery where Horace is now buried. The cemetery records say her monument is off the base and in a pile of displaced stones.

HAMILTON — Funeral services for Horace Wilson Husselman, 57, owner and operator of The Hamilton News, were conducted at 2 p.m. this afternoon.

The services were held at the Swift Funeral Home in Hamilton with Rev. James Rhine, former pastor of the United Methodist Church in Hamilton, officiating. The present pastor, Rev. Amps McGinnis, assisted and burial followed in the Hamilton Cemetery.

Mr. Husselman died about midnight Friday after suffering a sudden and unexpected heart attack. He had not been ill before the seizure and published the newspaper as usual on Thursday.

He operated the newspaper business and a small job printing business by himself with some help from his wife.

Mr. Husselman was born in Auburn on Nov. 11, 1912, the son of the late Calvin and Emma Rowe Husselman. He resided in Auburn before purchasing the newspaper from Cliff Johnston, now deceased, in 1945.

He and Mabel Byers were married in a ceremony performed Aug. 25, 1936, in Elkhart. He was a member of the United Methodist Church, Hamilton.

Surviving in addition to his wife are two daughters, Mrs. Marlene Gnagy, Hamilton and Mrs. Sandra Driver, Ludlow, TX., and six grandchildren.

Albert E. Rowe

Albert died while only 20. He jumped from a train and lost his footing. Article is on the next page. Not much is known about Albert (yet), but it is interesting to notice how many Rowes are called Albert E. Eugene Shatto's daughter married an Albert and his father's name was Albert. This picture was copied by Rod Mills and it was given to him by Peggy Nelson Rowe Mills.

BURT ROWE KILLED!

Fell Off the Plug Train Saturday Evening.

DIED SUNDAY AT 3:00 P. M.

Rowe Had Been Working for Bert Campbell and Was Enroute Home.—
Other Interesting News.

Saturday evening, May 26, Burt Rowe, a farm hand who had contracted for the summer with Bert Campbell, just north of town, left the farm at 7 o'clock p. m., and came to Waterloo, and a few minutes before the 8:35 Kendallville accommodation was due, Mr. C. gave him some money and declares Rowe was then sober, and went immediately to the Lake Shore depot, where he purchased a ticket for Sedan expecting to spend Sunday at his home directly north of that place, in Fairfield township. As the train whistled for the station, Rowe walked out of the car, and said to some of his acquaintances, "Goodbye boys, I leave you here," and in some unknown manner he fell from the train, when nearly half a mile from the station. The train men discovered the accident and back the train up. He was found to be badly bruised and his skull crushed. He was left at Sedan, and lingered in a semi-conscious condition until three o'clock p. m. Sunday, when death relieved his suffering. The deceased about 20 years of age, industrious, and a good hand on the farm. His untimely death is mourned by his friends. From the fact that the train was to stop at the station it is thought that he fell off the train, or otherwise in the darkness, supposed the train had passed the station, as it is only a flag station, and hastily jumped from the train.

Elza A. Rowe

Elza is buried in the Cedar Lake Cemetery on County Road 20. He grew up in Fairfield and Sedan. He had typhoid at the same time that he lost so much of his family in 1906-07, but he survived. At one time he lived on the Webb Harnish farm and on Mr. Spindler's farm. In 1920, he lived in Richland Township. His granddaughter Darlene Howard says he lived for a time in Sedan. I am not sure if that was while he was growing up or later. Elza was a farmer and a trainman. He also, like his brother David Rowe, worked as a timbercutter. He lived in Garrett at the time of his death. He died of cancer. In this picture, you can see where he had injured his arm, while cutting trees, and it did not heal right. It is interesting that his name is spelled so many different ways in his records, Elsie, Elsa, etc. He even was listed as a girl in a DeKalb County census. It shows you that you need to check out the accuracy of a census closely.

Oliver H. Rowe

Oliver was the second of Sarah and Zachariah's children to die from typhoid. He was sick for ten weeks. According to his death records, he was a laborer. His funeral was well attended and on the same day, two of the remaining were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett, Indiana. The obituary below was in the "Auburn Courier." The death record is from the "DeKalb Death Records."

Obituary.

Oliver H. son of Zacharia and Sarah Rowe, was born October 22, 1886, and departed this life January 31, 1907, aged 20 years, 3 months and 7 days. The cause of his death was typhoid fever from which he suffered ten weeks. His mother and one brother died lately of the same disease. Four more members of the family are yet down with the same malady.

They resided at Hesse Castle, Fairfield township. One sister and three brothers thus far have escaped the disease. On Friday p. m. the funeral services took place at the Fairfield Lutheran church conducted by Rev. D. A. Kuhn, pastor, attended by many sympathizing friends. Mr. Ettinger of Waterloo undertaker.

We extend to the bereft family our greatest condolence in this time of their distress and sorrow.

1. OLIVER⁷ ROWE (ZACHARIAH⁶, JACOB G.⁵ ROW, GEORGE⁴, JOHN FREDERICH³, GEORGE FREDERICH² RAU, PHILLIP JACOB¹) was born October 22, 1886 in Indiana, and died January 31, 1907 in Fairfield Twp, DeKalb Co., Indiana.

Sedan

SEDAN, Feb. 6.—Evelyn Draper visited Etzel Wuerly on Sunday..... Perry DeLong is sick in bed with blood poison.... Mrs. Ed Wuerly visited at Mrs. Gory's last Saturday.... Ernest Crann was home from Fort Wayne over Sunday.... Mrs. Chaney visited her sister at Spencerville last week..... The L. A. S. of the U. B. church will meet with Mrs. C. Buss the third Thursday in February.... Mrs. Beed, who has been one of the faithful neighbors through the typhoid stage at Hesse-Cassel, is worn out and sick. She took care of the little boy the most of the time..... The meetings at the Lutheran church closed Sunday evening after being held two weeks. Six united with the church at the Sunday morning service and others will soon join... Rev. Thomas preached a beautiful and suggestive sermon at the U. B. church last Sunday. Thirteen signed for his biography which will be published in the spring. It is likely others will sign as his biography contains a portion of his father's life also, and many of our old people remember his early work before war times through this section of the country.... The funeral of Ollie Rowe was well attended last Friday. On the same day two of the remaining were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital at Garrett and on Saturday the other two were taken to the same place. It has been a sad case.... There has been considerable sickness and some trouble in our community the past fall and winter, yet we must all remember that the bitter must come along with the sweet, and as we look back over the two years that we have written the Sedan items we find that there has been much more of the bright side of life to chronicle than of trouble and sorrow.

Blanche Rowe

Blanche was a twin to Edgar. She had just been baptized before she came down with typhoid. She was only 17 when she died.

FIVE DEAD IN ROWE FAMILY

BLANCHE ROWE SUCCUMBS TO
TYPHOID IN GARRETT HOSPITAL.

A VERY SAD BEREAVEMENT

Three More of Same Family Now In the Hospital and Still Seriously Ill

Yesterday at about noon, the fifth death in the Rowe family occurred at the Garrett Hospital. Undertaker Ettlinger was sent for to come after the body of Otto, the five year old boy, who died from typhoid fever. The remains were brought to the undertaking morgue of Ettlinger and Son, on Marion street, and prepared for burial, which will probably occur at Fairfield Center today.

Edgar Rowe, youngest brother of David and Elsie Rowe, was taken to Garrett last Friday and placed in the hospital. He has typhoid and this makes the fourth one from the same family now in the hospital.

The fourth death in the Rowe family, who lived in Sedan, in an old school building, was reported from the Sacred Heart Hospital at Garrett on Wednesday evening of last week. The death angel this time called Miss Blanche Rowe, making four deaths in the same family from typhoid fever within sixteen weeks.

At first a brother of Miss Blanche died from typhoid sixteen weeks ago, and later another brother died, and then shortly following the mother passed away. It was then thought best to take the remaining members of the family to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett, where they might receive such medical care and treatment as might save their lives. In this case however, the disease had such hold on the girl that she succumbed to the disease a few days after being there.

There are three other members of the same family still in the hospital, and one of them, a sister, has been hopelessly ill during the week. Another sister, and a son of a brother are the other two still there, and it is hoped that they may yet recover.

Undertaker Wm. Ettlinger went to Garrett after the death of the young lady to take charge of the remains, and the funeral was held Thursday and the burial took place near the old home at Fairfield Center.

It is one of the saddest cases that ever visited the community.

Blanch Rowe

Blanch Rowe was born Nov. 7, 1880 and departed this life Feb. 6, 1907, aged 17 years, 2 months and 29 days.

She leaves three brothers, three sisters and other relatives and friends to mourn their loss, which we hope is her eternal gain. Father, mother and four brothers preceded her to the spirit world. She is the fourth one that has gone within about four months from this family and others are still afflicted. She was converted about one year ago in a meeting we were holding at Maple Grove church and we think she lived a Christian life the best she could under the circumstances.

The funeral by the writer in the church at Fairfield Center and interment in the cemetery there. There was a good congregation present and they were very feeling and sympathetic and gave good attention to the word preached.

May God bless the bereft hearts and help all to be ready for the summons when it comes to go to the heaven of rest, is our prayer.

REV. WM. CLARK.

Edgar W. Rowe

This Rowe over the years has seemed very elusive to a lot of people. Various family histories have said he died in the typhoid epidemic, that he changed his name to Nicholas, and that he moved to Garrett and had three or four kids. He is in the "How to Do Things" published by the "Farm Journal" as living in Smithfield Township DeKalb County in 1920. In the census of that year he is the right age for our Edgar. I had come across some birth records in DeKalb County that Jessie and Edgar Rowe had children but I had no way of knowing whether this was the right Edgar or not until I found the census. As a child he received a good attendance award along with Mabel by only missing one day of school. In one of the articles about his family tragedy (five passing away with typhoid in a very short period of time), it mentions that Edgar came down with Typhoid also and was admitted to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett. He made it though. I don't know of anyone in my immediate family that had any contact with Edgar or his family.

School Report.

Report of school district No. 7, of Fairfield township, for the first month of school. The names of those who have been neither absent nor tardy are: Raymond Albright, Henry Albright, Agnes Metzger, Earl Farrington and Cora Potts.

Those who have been present every day but who have been once tardy are: Guy Myers, Jay Myers and Earl Myers. Those who have been absent but one day or less are: Edna Albright, Edgar Rowe and Mabel Rowe. For a school of twenty-seven pupils, we think this is a very good report especially as the few days which have been missed were caused by sickness in almost every case.—BLANCH GOODRICH, Teacher.

Mabel Donnie Rowe

When Mabel (or Donnie Mabel) was a child, she and Edgar got a good attendance award for only missing one day. She was the youngest daughter of Sarah and Zachariah. After recovering from typhoid, she went to a neighbor's house to help others that were sick. This was an example of what a nice person she was. Paul Sell, her son, wrote about her on the 100th anniversary of her birth date. "Donnie Mable Rowe, my mother, was a good worker. She was strong and always had kept up with the boys with work on the farm. She was loaned out to friends and family the next few years, working for her board and keep. Her oldest living sister kept her for a for a while. But her husband died early. (I cannot figure out who this is...Roz) Then mother was sent to Cleveland to live with her next oldest sister and her husband. (This was Nora and Laurel Spindler...) They had a daughter of their own about three years younger than Mother. That worked for a while. Mother's uncle was a minister (Laurel...) Times were bad and money was scarce so a new arrangement was found for the little orphan, now in her mid teens. Her new home was with Robert and Mary Cornwall. They had no children and were delighted to devote their attention to this "gift from God." ...They insisted Mother finish school..They were Nazarenes and Mother went to their church...She and three friends formed a singing group called "The Four Girls." Mabel wanted to earn extra money to further her education. " (I am going to condense this story, it is extremely interesting but very long.) The girls were much in demand and chose only to sing locally. One of the girls went off to school and left the other three. They became very close. They waited a year to go to college so Mabel could finish saving up for her college. The other girls went into Missionary work. Mabel took a position in Canton, Ohio as a matron in a girl's rescue home. The girls kept in touch. Mabel married the milk and egg man who delivered farm produce to the rescue home. She was twenty nine. When she had Paul, he had numerous health problems. He couldn't drink milk. He was very thin, until Mabel figured out he could eat pulverized vegetables. There was a problem with his blood and he also came down with pneumonia three times. He finally was better but felt he could never get enough to eat. She was always very busy but Paul felt his special time with her was during washday. He would sit on the steps, level with her and they would have heart to heart talks. Paul was a very active mischievous boy from the sounds of it and Mabel had her hands full keeping up with him. Mabel sounded like a remarkable women, raising her family, running the home, and being a lay minister. Paul said she could keep people spellbound with her real life stories of girls that came to her for help. She turned many around and got them started right. Late one evening, she heard that one of the Four girls had died. She was badly affected by this and she had a missionary conference that she was in charge of, planned for the next day. Before her turn to speak, she had a stroke. For the next twenty years, her work was finished. She tried to overcome the paralysis, but it never happened. She was very much in pain but tried her best to be patient. She loved china, pillows, and pretty cards.

Generation No. 1

1. DAVID MILES³ ALLEN (MILES², BENAJAH (BENJAMIN)¹) was born Abt. June 1850 in Indiana, and died October 28, 1884 in Spencerville, IN. He married EMMA E. TYNDALL July 04, 1876 in DeKalb Co..

Notes for DAVID MILES ALLEN:

David at 10 is living with a neighbor, George Putt. This is in the 1860 census. He is in the 1850 census showing he is 3 months old. Mary Jane was pregnant with him when his dad died. David taught at the Putt school and then taught at Spencerville around 1874. I found his tombstone record in the White City Cemetery book by Dr. Willis Carey. He was 34 y 8m 7 d. There was a poem written by A. R. Wyatt, M. D. from Ft Wayne, Indiana...

I am dreaming today of the Spencerville School
As it was in seventy-four
When we were young and happy
With our life work all before.

David Allen was our teacher
And certainly was fine,
But it took all his ingenuity
To keep his class in line.

We loved, we quarreled, we loved again
and sometimes even swore,
But when it came to the essential things of life
We were loyal to the core.

There were so many of us
That when we met for morning prayers
A goodly number had to sit
Upon the school house stairs.

There were Bishops and Murray s and Ericks,
There were Herricks and Emanuels all,
There were Tyndalls and Zimmermans and Fummels
And also Dora Hall.

There were Scotts and Olds' and Hendersons,
Millie Sigler and Irena Partee,
There were Blakes and Carnes and Kinseys,
And also Lizzie Gee.

The Stillings came over from Concord,
And Frank Scholes from Coburn Town,
Frank Walter came over from Springfield
And Will Shatto from Hudson came down.

The Walkers came over the river
And the Beamses from the County Line,
The Shutts and Murphys and all the rest
Were usually there on time.

There was a Cook, to cook our breakfast
There were Bears to hug us tight,
There were Horns to call us to dinner
And a Silberg that would fight.

We courted the girls together,
As you may surmize,
But always tried to get back home,
Before the sun would rise.

We had no automobiles
We had no aeroplanes
So we trusted to old Dobbin
To guide us through the lanes.

Old Dobbin was so gentle
When we needed one more hand,
We wrapped the lines around the whip,
We knew he'd understand.

Oh, we had a wonderful school
In eighteen seventy-four,
When we were young and happy
And with our life all before.

We think of those days with pleasure
We remember them also with pain,
When we know they have passed forever
And can never return again.

Notice William Shatto, his half brother in the poem.
